

example for Fast-forward merge:

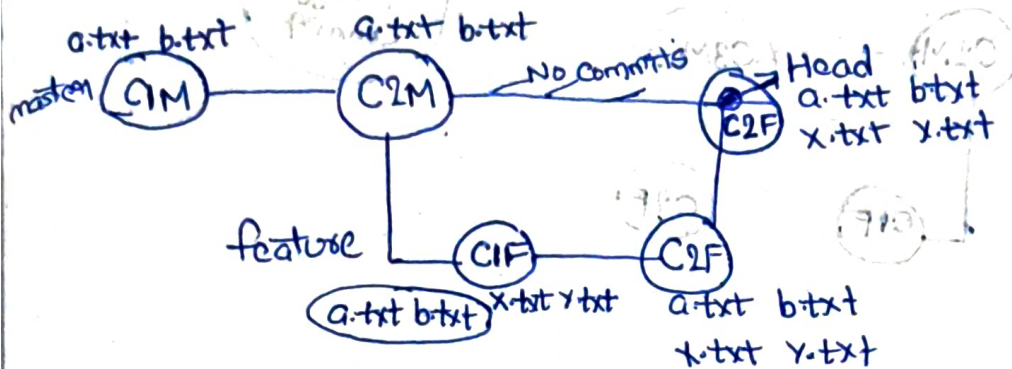

* Master ---> a.txt b.txt

* feature ---> x.txt y.txt

* First go back to the master branch then execute this command

* Master

git merge feature

step-1:- create project.

step-2:- $ git init

step-3:- $ touch a.txt b.txt step-4:- $ git add a.txt; git commit -m "C1M" step-5:- $ git add b.txt; git commit -m "C2M"

step-6:- $ git log --oneline

step-7:- $ git branch feature

step-8:- $ git branch

step-9:- $ git checkout feature step-10:- $ touch x.txt y.txt step-11:- $ git add x.txt; git commit -m "C1F" step-12:- $ git add y.txt; git commit -m "C2F"

step-13:- $ git log --oneline.

step-14:- $ ls

step-14:- $ git checkout master (shift to master branch and merge the commit)

step-15:- $ git merge feature

step-16:- $ ls

step-17:- $ git log --oneline.